HOW THEY BORROW IN NEW ZEALAND.

The Hanaukian Gazette in referring to a New Zealand loan bill says: "The various works to be done under the loan bill are distinctly specified and the amounts to be expended on them are clearly set down. The Government is so tied up that the money loaned can only be used for the specified purposes and no other." This is all true. But let it not be supposed that New Zealand has made a new departure in this hedging around borrowed money. The people down there may have become more cautious, and have drawn the restrictive ligaments tighter than formerly; but they have always been in the habit of authorizing loans for distinct specific purposes only, and not giving ministers authority to spend borrowed capital for any requirement of the government the latter may deem expedient. The absence of this very thing has always been a glaring defect in our loan acts. The BULLETIN expressed this view nearly four years ago. Not only should borrowed money be expended solely on reproductive public works, but a careful estimate should be made of the amounts required for the respective objects contemplated, and the objects and amounts specified in the Loan Act, or attached thereto. And this Act should be the guide of the Executive in expending the borrowed capital. Ministers should have no authority to transfer to other objects, or from one of the specified objects to another. Unless, indeed, a necessity should arise, such as a deficiency for the completion of one object with a surplus in another, in which case authority should emanate from a special Act of the Legislature. This, we understand, is how money is borrowed and expended by the New Zealand Government, and this we believe to be the proper method for the Hawaiian Government to adopt, and is being adopted in the Loan Bill which passed its final reading this morning.

DR. GOTO AGAIN.

The allusion to Dr. Goto as "a Japanese" so called doctor, whom Consul Irwin himself regarded as a quack," invites notice. Perhaps Consul Irwin may have regarded Dr. Goto as a quack, and he may still regard him as such; but that is no proof of the Doctor's lack of skill. Holloway, the famous "pills and ointment" doctor, was called a quack. Nevertheless, he wrought some remarkable cures where regular physicians had failed. What did Consul Irwin know of Dr. Goto, or of his skill or lack of skill? The statement of the Consul is offset by a contra statement by a gentleman of credibility who has resided a considerable time in Japan, and was there acquainted with Dr. Goto and his family. This gentleman says that such was the reputation of the elder Goto, with whom the son was associated in practice, that sick people came from long distances for treatment by him, and the government authorities had sufficient confidence in his skill to place afflicted soldiers under his charge. But this, with us, amounts to nothing. As stated on a previous occasion, we judge Dr. Goto's skill by the results of his practice. By his treatment he has relieved and is relieving suffering and discomfort. To this there are dozens of living witnesses. This, then, is a man to be encouraged and assisted, whatever Consul Irwin may think or say concerning him. Indeed, in view of the good effects of his efforts and the liberal amounts voted for some other physicians, the $1,500 a year, placed on the Appropriation Bill at its second reading, seems but poor compensation for his services. Some who experience the beneficial results of Dr. Goto's treatment are of opinion that it would be just to raise this item before the final passage of the bill, and we agree with them.

THE LEGISLATURE.

000,000, or perhaps $3,000,000, and an Appropriation Bill falling a little below, the Ministers would have no trouble in carrying out what was voted in the bill. But with a bill of $3,500,000 and a revenue of $2,500,000, then enterprises would have to be left alone. It would be an independent question whether the Ministers had funds in the Treasury. If they wanted to promote immigration, that would certainly be too much to add to the ordinary revenue. Everyone would recognize the importance of this port in relation to the commerce of the Pacific. It ought to be one of the best provided ports in the Pacific. There ought to be increased dockage, and the channel should be deepened and widened. Were they to charge themselves with the burden or let it alone? But if their credit was good—and he knew it was—they could borrow the money to carry out the enterprise. He was satisfied that the road tax to be paid in the district and the unexpended road tax could be applied to the roads. All this class of improvements ought not to be charged upon ordinary revenue, but to the credit of the country to carry them out. The item for the tug Elen was a proper one. With regard to the first item, every member would recognize the propriety of paying off this indebtedness with a new issue at 6 percent. With regard to the 5 percent commission mentioned in the section, if the Minister of Finance placed a portion of the loan abroad there would be need of some allowance. There would be no need of any at home.

Rep. Thurston said the Minister of the Interior had been giving an interesting statement, but had not shown any necessity for the 5 percent commission. He had given no information on that point. He (the speaker) should expect the P. C. Advertiser to come out and call them obstructivists. If they passed this section as it stands they would be voting $100,000 for nothing. The present Ministry were capable of doing that, as they had paid Irwin & Co. $5 a head for Japanese. The present Minister of the Interior gave Mr. Spreckels the Colnago Act without warrant of law. This Minister of the Interior and his associates had sucked enough juice out of this orange. They could borrow without commission.

Rep. Dickey said that if there was any faith in the Government there was plenty money to be had, and no need of putting a loan in the market, nor any need of a commission.

Rep. Kaulukou asked Rep. Dickey whether he could negotiate a loan without a commission.

Rep. Dickey said he could easily do it if they would let him select the Cabinet.

Rep. Kaulukou said that looked as if Rep. Dickey would like to be a Minister. The fact of it was he (Rep. Dickey) could not manage his duties as a representative, much less manage a loan.

Noble Macfarlane asked the object of the hon. Noble Cleghorn's motion to strike the 5 per cent commission out.

Noble Cleghorn said the commission was absurd. It looked as if there was a "nigger in the fence." If they put in that limit some one would get it.

Noble Macfarlane said a loan could not be placed on the London market without a syndicate. The latter would put them on a par with the 6 percent Chinese loan, which was placed at 98. If those bonds were only received at 90 on the market the syndicate would get badly left.

Noble Cleghorn said he had no idea of getting money from abroad. They had two banks here with good credit. It looked as if Noble Macfarlane was intimately connected with these gentlemen who were interested in the loan and expected to get something.

Noble Macfarlane said he had not arranged to get one single cent, nor had he any promise of anything. It would be a benefit to have English capital here. If they could get the money here, all right; if not, then they would have to go abroad. He understood it was the intention of the Government to place a portion of the loan on the London market. If they do they cannot float it without they pay 5 percent commission to the syndicate.

Rep. Hayselden said that sugar agents are paid 2 1/2 percent here and 2 1/2 percent in California.

Noble Bush—Sometimes 5 percent.

Rep. Hayselden said he did not see why these bonds should not command a premium. If it was right to pay a commission to sugar agents the same argument would hold good in this case.

A motion to adjourn was lost.

Rep. Brown was in favor of the amendment. The credit of the Government was such that they could not place a loan. If the people of their own country had no confidence, it could not be expected that people in foreign countries had any. That was proved by the statement that $1,500,000 had been sent away.

Noble Bush asked if those people were not trying to get their money back.

Rep. Brown said he did not know.

Noble Bush said that those persons who had invested their money abroad were anxious to get it back.

Rep. Kaulukou moved the previous question, which carried.

The amendment by Noble Cleghorn was put and lost.

The amendment offered by Minister Gibson was passed.

Rep. Brown moved to insert the word "Privy" in place of "Cabinet." Lost.

Rep. Thurston moved to insert at the end of this section as amended the words "provided, however, that such commission shall not be allowed for any bonds sold in this Kingdom or to any residents of this Kingdom." Agreed to.

The section then passed as amended.

After section 4 had been read Minister Gibson moved it be amended by substituting the new schedule of twelve items.

Rep. Thurston said it was hardly proper for the Ministers to come at the eleventh hour and present this schedule. The members ought to have had some means of studying it. If they were going to rush this bill through, as he understood the orders were, they had better adjourn and get some supper. The Ministers could only stick to their places on the condition that the bill pass today.

Minister Gibson said this was purely one of Rep. Thurston's imaginations. He was again bringing in street rumors. The Ministers were under no apprehension whatever.

Noble Bush said the schedule was easily understood, and there was very little more to do to the bill.

Rep. Thurston thought that a rather remarkable statement.

Rep. Kaulukou moved the section pass as amended and then moved the previous question, which carried.

Rep. Dole said it was most distasteful thing to move the previous question.

The amendment carried and the section was passed as amended.

Sections 5, 6 and 7, the enacting clause and the title were passed without debate.

Rep. Hayselden moved the vote by which the enactment clause was passed be reconsidered. Lost.

On motion of Rep. Keau the bill passed to engrossment and was read a third time on Wednesday morning.

At 5:45 the House adjourned to 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.
